THIS IS NEW!

Landscape of Loss is a brand-new endeavor for Haven. A podcast where we explore the many facets of grief and loss. No person is untouched by it. We are taking these topics one by one the only way we know how - through them. Interviews with parents and families of loss allow the listener to borrow the perspectives gained and apply them in their own lives. Interviews with care providers allow parents to learn how their children affect and impact their practices. Interviews with grief and wellbeing professionals allow us all to approach ourselves and each other more empathetically and live more connected lives.

Every parent who has lost a child must make the decision to continue living in an impossible reality. Family and friends are an invaluable support system after such a loss, but there is a specific comfort that can only be found in shared experience. There's something so transformative about being able to look someone in the eye and know that they understand what you've been through.
